Description and History

This fund code for federal receipts associated with the economic stimulus package under the ARRA of 2009 was created in response to federal requirements regarding tracking of ARRA expenditures and reporting the impact of those expenditures.

In order to be able to comply with federal reporting requirements, ARRA receipts cannot be intermingled with other federal receipts. ARRA receipts may be used for no other purpose than specified in an appropriation, nor may other federal receipt codes be used for projects and programs funded through the stimulus package.

July 2010

The code remains active longer than anticipated. Federal authorization was extended in many cases, resulting in reappropriations and lapse extensions. New receipts were also made available, so expenditures are likely to show at least through FY12.
